On April 27, 2009, respondent Danny Robert Taylor, submitted a motion for an extension of time to pay disciplinary costs and to modify the terms of his probation. This motion was supported by a financial declaration filed April 27, 2009 as well as other documents verifying his financial condition. On May 27, the Office of the Chief Trial Counsel of the State Bar of California, by Charles A. Murray, filed opposition to some of the requests by respondent.

On June 12, 2009, the court granted the relief requested. However, the court inadvertently did so in an order in case number 99-O-12424, when some of the relief involved this matter. Therefore, the court issues this order to correct this error.

GOOD CAUSE APPEARING THEREFOR, the court makes the following orders:

1. The restitution which was ordered to commence on December 10, 2008, is ordered to now commence on September 15, 2009, at the rate of $100 per month and increasing by $25 every six months until paid in full;

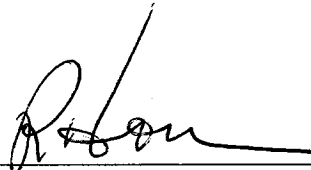

2. The due date for payment of the sanction imposed in People v. De Valle is extended to February 1, 2011;

3. Respondent will be given credit for taking and passing in 2003 the MPRE, as previously agreed to by the court and the Office of the Chief Trial Counsel.

4. The clerk of the court is ordered to transmit this matter to the Supreme Court forthwith.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
