In the Matter of: JOSHUA Z. WEBB Member No.: 207570 A Member of the State Bar	Case No(s): 09-C-10286 MINUTE ORDER DENYING MOTION FOR EARLY TERMINATION OF PROBATION BUT MODIFYING TERMS OF PROBATION

On January 17, 2012, Respondent filed a motion seeking an early termination of his three-year probation. His probation is scheduled to terminate on September 9, 2012. In his motion, Respondent contends that he had been in compliance with this probation for more than two years and that the money he is spending on drug testing would be better spent on his son.

On January 19, 2012, the Office of Probation filed a response to Respondent's motion. In this very detailed response, the Office of Probation set out the details of Respondent's compliance, and non-compliance, with the terms of his probation, including, inter alia, Respondent's extensive difficulties with providing timely and adequate results of the required testing for drugs and alcohol. Those problems, in the main, occurred after the Office of Probation changed its testing requirements from a 5-panel to a 10-panel format. The response raised the possibility that the terms of Respondent's probation be modified to require only testing for alcohol consumption, since the stipulation regarding Respondent's prior misconduct "only mentions Respondent's use of alcohol."

Given the number of instances in which Respondent has failed to comply with his probation obligations during the last two years, including three instances of late quarterly reports and numerous late drug testing reports, this court does not find good cause to shorten the period of his probation. However, the court agrees that good cause does exist to modify the terms of Respondent's probation to require that he be tested only for alcohol (EtG) each month for the duration of that probation. This modification does not apply to the requirement that Respondent abstain from any use of alcohol or drugs during the period of his probation.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
