ATTACHMENT TO
STIPULATION RE FACTS, CONCLUSIONS OF LAW AND DISPOSITION

IN THE MATTER OF: THOMAS MARTIN

CASE NUMBER: 16-O-10774

FACTS AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW.

Respondent admits that the following facts are true and that he is culpable of violations of the specified statutes and/or Rules of Professional Conduct.

Case No. 16-O-10774 (State Bar Investigation)

FACTS:

1. On October 1, 2015, Respondent wrote check #4141 from his Client Trust Account located at Wells Fargo Bank, account number XXXXXXXX790 ("CTA"). That check, in the amount of $175 was made payable to the Hawaii Medical Administration Association. This check was for Respondent's personal expenses.

2. On November 2, 2015, Respondent wrote check #4142 from his CTA. That check, in the amount of $280 was made payable to the Hawaii State Tax Collector and for Respondent's personal expenses.

3. Also on November 2, 2015, Respondent wrote check #4143 from his CTA. That check, in the amount of $100 was made payable to Respondent's spouse and was also for personal expenses.

4. The source of the funds were not client funds but were funds belonging to Respondent which he had not removed from his CTA.

5. As a result of the above checks, Respondent's CTA became overdrawn by $349.59.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

6. By failing to promptly remove funds which Respondent had earned as fees from Respondent's CTA, and instead using the CTA as a personal account by issuing checks from the CTA for the payment of personal or business expenses as needed, Respondent willfully violated Rules of Professional Conduct, rule 4-100(A).

ADDITIONAL FACTS RE MITIGATING CIRCUMSTANCES.

Absence of Prior Discipline: Respondent has been admitted to practice law since December 1981 and has been active at all times since. Respondent has been discipline free for approximately 33 years of practice from admission to the earliest misconduct herein (2015) and is therefore entitled to significant mitigation. (Hawes v. State Bar (1990) 51 Cal.3d 587, 596.)

Pretrial Stipulation: By entering into this stipulation, respondent has acknowledged misconduct and is entitled to mitigation for recognition of wrongdoing and saving the State Bar significant resources and time. (Silva-Vidor v. State Bar (1989) 49 Cal.3d 1071, 1079 [where mitigative credit was given for entering into a stipulation as to facts and culpability]; In the Matter of Spaith (Review Dept. 1996) 3 Cal. State Bar Ct. Rptr. 511, 521 [where the attorney's stipulation to facts and culpability was held to be a mitigating circumstance].)

AUTHORITIES SUPPORTING DISCIPLINE.

The Standards for Attorney Sanctions for Professional Misconduct “set forth a means for determining the appropriate disciplinary sanction in a particular case and to ensure consistency across cases dealing with similar misconduct and surrounding circumstances.” (Rules Proc. of State Bar, tit. IV, Stds. for Atty. Sanctions for Prof. Misconduct, std. 1.1. All further references to Standards are to this source.) The Standards help fulfill the primary purposes of discipline, which include: protection of the public, the courts and the legal profession; maintenance of the highest professional standards; and preservation of public confidence in the legal profession. (See std. 1.1; In re Morse (1995) 11 Cal.4th 184, 205.)

Although not binding, the standards are entitled to “great weight” and should be followed “whenever possible” in determining level of discipline. (In re Silverton (2005) 36 Cal.4th 81, 92, quoting In re Brown (1995) 12 Cal.4th 205, 220 and In re Young (1989) 49 Cal.3d 257, 267, fn. 11.) Adherence to the Standards in the great majority of cases serves the valuable purpose of eliminating disparity and assuring consistency, that is, the imposition of similar attorney discipline for instances of similar attorney misconduct. (In re Naney (1990) 51 Cal.3d 186, 190.) If a recommendation is at the high end or low end of a standard, an explanation must be given as to how the recommendation was reached. (Std. 1.1.) “Any disciplinary recommendation that deviates from the Standards must include clear reasons for the departure.” (Std. 1.1; Blair v. State Bar (1989) 49 Cal.3d 762, 776, fn. 5.)

In determining whether to impose a sanction greater or less than that specified in a given standard, in addition to the factors set forth in the specific standard, consideration is to be given to the primary purposes of discipline; the balancing of all aggravating and mitigating circumstances; the type of misconduct at issue; whether the client, public, legal system or profession was harmed; and the member’s willingness and ability to conform to ethical responsibilities in the future. (Stds. 1.7(b) and (c).)

Standard 2.2(a) provides that an actual suspension of three months is the presumed sanction for commingling. Respondent here commingled his personal funds in a CTA and therefore a three month actual suspension is the presumptive discipline.

Nevertheless, Respondent has a significant period of discipline-free prior practice. There are no countervailing factors in aggravation. Still, Respondent allowed his CTA account to be overdrawn based on personal use of the account. This raises the very concerns a trust account is intended to avoid. Because the mitigating circumstances predominate and there are no aggravating factors, a deviation from the Standard is warranted and will still serve the purposes of attorney discipline. Specifically, actual suspension is unwarranted in this matter.

Therefore, Respondent should receive a stayed one-year suspension, and a one-year period of probation with conditions including instruction in client trust accounting. This level of discipline is sufficient and appropriate to protect the public, the courts, and the legal profession; maintain the highest professional standards; and preserve the public confidence in the legal profession.

Case law supports this recommendation. In Kelly v. State Bar (1991) 53 Cal.3d 509, the Supreme Court was confronted with an attorney who deposited client funds into his general account, wrote a check on insufficient funds from his client trust account, and misappropriated $750 from a client. The Court found that the misappropriation did not stem from deceit or an intent to deceive and that the trust account violations stemmed from a time when the attorney was moving his office and his long time office manager (who handled the bank accounts) had left his employ. There was also an absence of harm with regard to the insufficient check and the commingling. Given the above, as well as mitigation for 13 years of practice without prior discipline, the Court ordered a three year stayed suspension and a three year probation with conditions including an actual suspension of 120 days.

Respondent's commingling is similar to the conduct in Kelly, though the current misconduct occurred over a much shorter period of time. Additionally, the misconduct at issue here does not include misappropriation or the failure to promptly return client funds. Moreover, Respondent has a greater period of discipline-free practice – over twice as long – and promptly and spontaneously restored the missing funds into his account. On balance, given the less serious misconduct and significant mitigation, a level of discipline less than that imposed in Kelly is appropriate. A stayed suspension is sufficient to protect the public, the courts, and the legal profession; maintain the highest professional standards; and preserve public confidence in the legal profession.

COSTS OF DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS.

Respondent acknowledges that the Office of Chief Trial Counsel has informed respondent that as of June 30, 2016, the prosecution costs in this matter are $3,824.82. Respondent further acknowledges that should this stipulation be rejected or should relief from the stipulation be granted, the costs in this matter may increase due to the cost of further proceedings.

EXCLUSION FROM MINIMUM CONTINUING LEGAL EDUCATION (“MCLE”) CREDIT

Respondent may not receive MCLE credit for completion of any educational courses to be ordered as a condition of probation. (Rules Proc. of State Bar, rule 3201.)
