This requirement is separate from any Minimum Continuing Legal Education (MCLE) requirement, and Respondent will not receive MCLE credit for attending this session. - (8) State Bar Ethics School Not Recommended: It is not recommended that Respondent be ordered to attend the State Bar Ethics School because Respondent attended Ethics School on February 6, 2018, and passed the test given at the end of the session. Respondent is required to present such proof upon request by the State Bar, the Office of Probation, or the State Bar Court.
- (15) The following conditions are attached hereto and incorporated:

Failure to do so may result in disbarment or suspension.

For purposes of compliance with rule 9.20(a), the operative date for identification of "clients being represented in pending matters" and others to be notified is the filing date of the Supreme Court order, not any later "effective" date of the order. (Atheam v. State Bar (1982) 32 Cal.3d 38, 45.) Further, Respondent is required to file a rule 9.20(c) affidavit even if Respondent has no clients to notify on the date the Supreme Court filed its order in this proceeding. (Powers v. State Bar (1988) 44 Cal.3d 337, 341.) In addition to being punished as a crime or contempt, an attorney's failure to comply with rule 9.20 is, inter alia, cause for disbarment, suspension, revocation of any pending disciplinary probation, and denial of an application for reinstatement after disbarment. (Cal. Rules of Court, rule 9.20(d).)

- (4) California Rules of Court, Rule 9.20 – Conditional Requirement: If Respondent remains suspended for 90 days or longer, Respondent must comply with the requirements of California Rules of Court, rule 9.20, and perform the acts specified in subdivisions (a) and (c) of that rule within 120 and 130 days, respectively, after the effective date of the Supreme Court order imposing discipline in this matter. Failure to do so may result in disbarment or suspension.

For purposes of compliance with rule 9.20(a), the operative date for identification of "clients being represented in pending matters" and others to be notified is the filing date of the Supreme Court order, not any later "effective" date of the order. (Athearn v. State Bar (1982) 32 Cal.3d 38, 45.) Further, Respondent is required to file a rule 9.20(c) affidavit even if Respondent has no clients to notify on the date the Supreme Court filed its order in this proceeding. (Powers v. State Bar (1988) 44 Cal.3d 337, 341.) In addition to being punished as a crime or contempt, an attorney's failure to comply with rule 9.20 is, inter alia, cause for disbarment, suspension, revocation of any pending disciplinary probation, and denial of an application for reinstatement after disbarment. (Cal. Rules of Court, rule 9.20(d).)

- (5) California Rules of Court, Rule 9.20, Requirement Not Recommended: It is not recommended that Respondent be ordered to comply with the requirements of California Rules of Court, rule 9.20, because

STIPULATION RE FACTS, CONCLUSIONS OF LAW AND DISPOSITION

IN THE MATTER OF: ADAM ASTAN

CASE NUMBER: 17-O-05894

FACTS AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW.

Respondent admits that the following facts are true and that he is culpable of violations of the specified statutes and/or Rules of Professional Conduct.

Case No. 17-O-05894 (Complainant: State Bar Investigation)

FACTS:

1. Respondent was admitted to the practice of law in the State of California on December 4, 2014, and since that time has been a member of the State Bar of California.
2. Prior to this matter, respondent had no prior history of discipline.
3. On September 6, 2017, respondent, who was a Deputy Public Defender, was representing V. Perez in a criminal case in the Los Angeles Superior Court, entitled People v. Perez ("Perez").
4. After attempting to negotiate a settlement in Perez, respondent prepared and submitted a motion for a Peremptory Challenge per Civil Code of Procedure § 170.6 ("motion").
5. The motion consisted of a single page document, which respondent walked over to the court clerk and placed on top of the file.
6. Shortly thereafter, respondent informed the clerk of his intention to withdraw the motion. The clerk handed respondent the court file with the motion still sitting on top of the file. Respondent then walked over to counsel table and placed the motion face down on the table directly in front of him.
7. The Court called the matter to put the transfer of the case on the record and requested the file from respondent. Respondent returned the file to the court when the court noticed the motion had been removed.
8. As the Court made the record of the transfer, respondent stated, "there was no 170.6 filed. It's been withdrawn."
9. The Court then explained to respondent that the motion had been filed, the Court had seen it, and the successive department had been contacted to confirm the transfer. The transcript of the exchange between the Court and respondent quoted the Court stating, "Once you file something, you cannot withdraw that document from the file. So the case is transferred to Department 4 forthwith."
10. The Court then "urged" respondent to put back the motion in the file before moving on to other calendared matters.

11. Respondent made no efforts to return the motion to the file, pursuant to the court's request and left the courtroom with several files and documents, including the motion.

12. Approximately seven minutes later respondent returned to the courtroom with at least two documents which had been folded up, including the motion and discarded the documents in the bailiff's trash can.

13. Twenty-five minutes later, after respondent had handled other client matters, the Court called the Perez matter a second time and asked respondent to return the motion to the file. Respondent replied that he did not recall where the document was located and again argued his position that the motion had been withdrawn. Respondent stated "I withdrew it. I was not under the impression that the court had already reviewed it." He then stated the following: "I informed your clerk that I'm going to withdraw this request. And when I informed him that I was going to withdraw it, the word 'withdraw' for me literally means, 'I'm withdrawing, it's a piece of paper that I'm now withdrawing.'"

14. During a recess, the bailiff recovered the motion from her trash can.

15. The Court called the Perez matter a third time to make a record that the motion had been recovered from the trash can and was file stamped, confirming that it had been filed with the court, and it was returned to the file.

16. When the Court made a record that respondent had removed the motion without leave of the court, respondent again disputed that the motion had been filed, denied that the motion had been ruled upon and stated that whether the motion was recovered from the trash can was "immaterial."

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

17. Respondent was grossly negligent in keeping track of the motion, which was in his possession and safekeeping, as he had removed it from the court file and caused it to be discarded in the trash. As an officer of the court, respondent was aware that filed documents must be maintained in the court file as part of the formal court records. Based on this conduct, respondent committed an act involving moral turpitude, dishonesty or corruption in willful violation of Business and Professions Code § 6106.

AGGRAVATING CIRCUMSTANCES.

Indifference (Std. 1.5(k)): Respondent's exchange with the Court regarding the motion exhibited indifference as he never accepted any accountability for the missing motion from the first time he is questioned until after the motion was discovered in the trash can, despite being questioned by the court in three distinct exchanges on the record.

MITIGATING CIRCUMSTANCES.

Extraordinary Good Character (Std. 1.6(f)): Respondent has provided thirteen character letters from a wide range of references in the legal and general community who are aware of the full extent of the misconduct. Specifically, respondent has provided seven letters of support from attorneys who both supervised and trained him, four letters from community members who attested to his involvement in social justice, support and spiritual groups, and two letters from attorneys who trained and worked alongside respondent. All thirteen individuals are willing to attest to his good character. Each has known respondent for significant period of time, all of the individuals are aware of the full extent of the misconduct, and attested to their belief in respondent's good character, his ability as an attorney and his remorse concerning the misconduct. Respondent is entitled to mitigation credit for good character.

Pretrial Stipulation: By entering into this stipulation, respondent has acknowledged misconduct and is entitled to mitigation for recognition of wrongdoing and saving the State Bar significant resources and time. (Silva-Vidor v. State Bar (1989) 49 Cal.3d 1071, 1079 [where mitigative credit was given for entering into a stipulation as to facts and culpability]; In the Matter of Spaith (Review Dept. 1996) 3 Cal. State Bar Ct. Rptr. 511, 521 [where the attorney's stipulation to facts and culpability was held to be a mitigating circumstance].)

AUTHORITIES SUPPORTING DISCIPLINE.

The Standards for Attorney Sanctions for Professional Misconduct "set forth a means for determining the appropriate disciplinary sanction in a particular case and to ensure consistency across cases dealing with similar misconduct and surrounding circumstances." (Rules Proc. of State Bar, tit. IV, Stds. for Atty. Sanctions for Prof. Misconduct, std. 1.1. All further references to standards are to this source.) The standards help fulfill the primary purposes of discipline, which include: protection of the public, the courts and the legal profession; maintenance of the highest professional standards; and preservation of public confidence in the legal profession. (See std. 1.1; In re Morse (1995) 11 Cal.4th 184, 205.)

Although not binding, the standards are entitled to "great weight" and should be followed "whenever possible" in determining level of discipline. (In re Silvertan (2005) 36 Cal.4th 81, 92, quoting In re Brown (1995) 12 Cal.4th 205, 220 and In re Young (1989) 49 Cal.3d 257, 267, fn. 11.) Adherence to the standards in the great majority of cases serves the valuable purpose of eliminating disparity and assuring consistency, that is, the imposition of similar attorney discipline for instances of similar attorney misconduct. (In re Naney (1990) 51 Cal.3d 186, 190.) If a recommendation is at the high end or low end of a standard, an explanation must be given as to how the recommendation was reached. (Std. 1.1.) "Any disciplinary recommendation that deviates from the Standards must include clear reasons for the departure." (Std. 1.1; Blair v. State Bar (1989) 49 Cal.3d 762, 776, fn. 5.)

In determining whether to impose a sanction greater or less than that specified in a given standard, in addition to the factors set forth in the specific standard, consideration is to be given to the primary purposes of discipline; the balancing of all aggravating and mitigating circumstances; the type of misconduct at issue; whether the client, public, legal system or profession was harmed; and the member's willingness and ability to conform to ethical responsibilities in the future. (Stds. 1.7(b) and (c).)

Standard 1.7(a) requires that where "a member commits two or more acts of misconduct and the Standards specify different sanctions for each act, the most severe sanction must be imposed." The most severe sanction applicable to respondent's misconduct is found under Standard 2.11, which states, in relevant part, "Disbarment or actual suspension is the presumed sanction for an act of moral turpitude, dishonesty, fraud, corruption, intentional or grossly negligent misrepresentation, or concealment of a material fact."

Here, the court informed respondent that the motion was filed and directed respondent to return the motion to the file in two distinct exchanges. Video footage showed respondent removing the motion and placing it upside down on the table in front of him. There were few papers in and around the area where he placed the motion and nothing obstructed respondent's access to the motion both during and after the initial exchange. Respondent then gathered the motion with other documents and files as he met with other clients outside of the courtroom, knowing that the court urged him to return it to the file. Respondent disregarded the court's requests and failed to recognize the motion among the documents he took from the courtroom. Respondent then negligently and carelessly discarded the motion in the trash. The actual intent to deceive is not necessary; a finding of gross negligence in creating a false impression is sufficient for violation of section 6106. (In the Matter of Moriarty (Review Dept. 1999) 4 Cal. State Bar Ct. Rptr. 9, 15.)

Similarly, in Waterman v. State Bar (1936), 8 Cal.2d 17, the attorney had been hired in March to obtain a divorce decree for his client. Later that month, the attorney filed and served the divorce petition but failed to file the original with the court. Although the attorney discovered his mistake in August of that year, he made no effort to remedy his mistake until after a complaint was filed against him in October. The Supreme Court found that the attorney's "acts" of carelessness and negligence involved moral turpitude and also breached the oath of an attorney.

In the second exchange here, respondent, who was well aware of the court's demand, was asked about the location of the motion and merely stated that he did not recall. Respondent made no further efforts to recover the motion and continued to dispute that the motion was actually filed. Because respondent knew the motion had been filed and that the court demanded the motion be returned to the file, he was grossly negligent in allowing for the concealment of the motion after having the motion in his possession.

In In the Matter of Yee (Review Dept. 2014) 5 Cal. State Bar Ct. Rptr. 330, the court found that an inaccurate reporting of Minimum Continuing Legal Education (MCLE) was the result of gross negligence amounting to moral turpitude. Specifically, the attorney in Yee had submitted an inaccurate compliance report to the State Bar of California and later admitted that she had not verified her records before submitting the compliance card. Although the attorney in Yee ultimately was disciplined with a public reproof, there were at least five mitigating factors and no aggravating facts, which is distinguishable from respondent's case at issue. Furthermore, the attorney's misconduct in Yee is also distinguishable from respondent because his actions occurred in the course of representing a client in a formal criminal proceeding and involve interactions with a judicial officer.

Additionally, in Bach v. State Bar (1987) 43 Cal.3d 848, an attorney with a prior public reproof misled a judge about being advised and ordered to produce his client at a mediation hearing. However, the order did exist, the court previously served the attorney with the order prior to the attorney making contradictory claims, and the attorney was present in court when the court issued the order. The Supreme Court suspended the attorney for one year, stayed, and placed the attorney on probation for three years with an actual suspension for the first 60 days of his probation. Although the attorney in Bach had a prior record of discipline and respondent does not, a 60 day actual suspension is appropriate because respondent's misconduct is more egregious than the attorney in Bach.

Here, the court clearly informed respondent that the motion was filed even as he denied it and demanded that the motion be returned. Even when confronted with confirmation that the motion had in fact been filed, respondent continued to dispute that fact and failed to remedy the issue by simply returning the motion to the file. Respondent disregarded his duties as an officer of the court and failed to comply with Judge Magno's request to return the motion to the file. Respondent further failed to take accountability for his involvement in the matter. Respondent's misconduct involves moral turpitude and therefore the appropriate level of discipline is 60 days of actual suspension.

COSTS OF DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS.

Respondent acknowledges that the Office of Chief Trial Counsel has informed respondent that as of December 18, 2018, the discipline costs in this matter are $ 3,857. Respondent further acknowledges that should this stipulation be rejected or should relief from the stipulation be granted, the costs in this matter may increase due to the cost of further proceedings.
